This usage, however, is strenuously opposed by the distinguished British geologist, and former DirectorGeneral of the Geological Survey of Great Britain and Ireland--Sir Archibald Geikie--who has written as follows: This proposal, which was honestly intended to obviate confusion and to promote the progress of the science, was, in my opinion, especially unjust to Murchison. The division of Lower Silurian had the claim not only of priority, but of having had its component members defined by the author of the Silurian system in the early years of his investigation, and accepted by geologists all over the world. In another place in this same report Geikie said, Murchison's Lower Silurian has by many writers been replaced by Ordovician , and his Upper Silurian is in a similar manner being ousted by some other term, so that...
