Excerpt from Rhopalocera Africae Australis: A Catalogue of South African Butterflies; Comprising Descriptions of All the Known Species, With Notices of Their Larvae, Pupae, Localities, Habits, Seasons of Appearance, and Geographical My original intention, in the preparation of this work, was simply to have given a list of all the known South African Butterflies, with notes on their habits, localities, c., only describing the new or previously undescribed species. On further consideration, however, and with the advice of several friends, I resolved to make original descriptions of all the species, feeling convinced that, by so doing, the utility of the work would be greatly increased; especially to those resident in the South African Colonies, to most of whom the study of Entomology is new, and who have few or no opportunities of reference to arranged collections of insects or entomological works. For this task I was in some measure prepared by a year's residence in the Cape colony, during which period the greater portion of my time was occupied in the collection and observation of the...
